Taluk Office crowded for social welfare pensions

Post-lockdown sees spike from 30-40 applicants per day to 100

Picture right shows an Office staff collecting applications from beneficiaries at Taluk Office in city this morning.

Mysuru, July 13 (LNY&KS)- Hundreds of people gather every day at the Taluk Office at Mini Vidhana Soudha in Nazarbad to submit applications for social welfare pensions directly credited to the bank accounts by the State Government.

Arrangements are made for the public, mostly senior citizens, by lining up chairs in the corridors to avoid crowding.

The pensions include social security pensions like widow pension, old age pension, disabled pension and other financial aids such as Sandhya Suraksha scheme, Manaswini and Maithri among others.

Long queues are usually seen every day from 9.30 am. Due to COVID, the office employees are taking enough precautions too. Instead of allowing beneficiaries and applicants to crowd in front of their desks, section officers and assistants are themselves coming to the corridors wearing masks to receive applications.

Hotel sector sees a little room for hope

Compared to sluggish months after first wave, business vigorous now

Mysuru, July 13 (BCT)- After missing out on a big chunk of revenues from the domestic leisure, tourism and wedding season business due to lockdown following the catastrophic COVID second wave, the hotel and hospitality sector in Mysuru has reopened on a full scale barring minor restrictions from July 5.

Though it was predicted that it might take months for the nose-dived industry to get back on its feet, major city hoteliers say that business has picked up though not on full scale. It is showing signs of full recovery and the sector will revive as the festive season is ahead. But vaccination and caution is crucial, they said.

For stakeholders this is not the proverbial new dawn as the hotel sector's survival and fortunes hinge on the number of tourists arriving in the city. However, the tourism industry too is showing signs of recovery as more than 16,000 tourists have landed up at Mysore Palace and Mysuru Zoo ever since the lockdown was eased from July 5.

Those in the hotel industry and tourism related business are happy as the occupancy rate in hotels and dine-ins have improved. Relaxing restrictions beyond the present 9 pm will be an added advantage, they said.

Radisson Blu Plaza

Speaking to Star of Mysore, S. Vijay Selvaraj, Director, Sales and Marketing, Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel, said that recovery after the first wave was sluggish and it took over four months to recover while the recovery now is fast and the industry is showing signs of bouncing back with full vigour. "People are travelling now and there are increased bookings in terms of people while in the first wave people were not coming out. Now they are more aware of the vaccines and staying on guard. Also, allied industries like the manufacturing segment too are in full swing. I am happy to say that we too were able to start operations quickly and the staff too rejoined us as we had made adequate preparations," he said.

All the staff at Radisson Blu are fully vaccinated as the hotel had taken the initiative, Vijay said adding that this is one more assurance for the guests that they are in a safe zone.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The obnoxious system of dowry has ruined the lives of many families. The female foeticide is directly linked to this 'cultural practice' along with the 'big Indian wedding' that renders the bride's family bankrupt. The woman's life is valued based on the weight of the gold she brings, literally. Recently, a spate of dowry-related deaths have been reported in Kerala, mostly from the upper echelons of the society. The perpetrators are from highly qualified and affluent families and the victims are well qualified.

The dowry prohibition act alone is not going to stop this menace. The women alone can stop this. If a man can value you only by the car, cash, house or gold your father can gift him, that man is not looking for a partner but a cash cow. And he will treat you like a cow — another of female gender that is elevated to the status of Goddess. There is nothing wrong with remaining single if you can't find a man who values you, or being divorced, than being a slave to such a greedy swine. It is time to tell the 'Sanskari' uncles and aunts to stop worshipping women as Goddesses. It would be a great step forward if our rotten society starts treating women as humans. — Anand Neelakantan in The New Indian Express

Woman runs 49 red lights to take revenge

Beijing: A woman and her male accomplice were recently detained by Police after she rented her ex boyfriend's car and ran dozens of red lights over a period of two days, as a weird way to get back at him.

Media recently reported a bizarre case in which a young woman from Shaoxing, East China's Zhejiang Province, attempted to exact revenge on her ex-partner for leaving her for another woman, by using his own car to get him in trouble with the law.

The woman, known only as Lou, allegedly convinced another man to rent her former boyfriend's car via an online car renting app and then used the vehicle to run 49 red lights and break other traffic rules, with the explicit intent to get the owner in trouble with the law.

This chicken breed has black skin and dark meat

New Delhi: Kadaknath, an Indian chicken breed popular for the quality of its meat and eggs, but primarily because of the black color of the skin and its dark-colored meat.

But one has to wonder if it would be as popular if the color of the meat was black. Kadaknath, is raised in several Indian States and the dark meat is allegedly of much higher quality than broilers.

Also known as Kali Masi, Kadaknath chickens originated from the tribal-dominated Jhabua district Madhya Pradesh, but are now raised in many states of India, including Chhattisgarh, Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra. Its strange-looking flesh is sought after by health-conscious meat eaters, because it has much higher-quality protein and a significantly lower fat content.

Reviving old memories

Sir,

Nizamuddin

I was thrilled to read about Nizamuddin. My elder brother John Spurgeon also studied at Maharaja's College in Mysore. He was a footballer himself and represented Combined Colleges Mysore at University level. In fact there was a photo of the team in Sports & Pastime magazine when they emerged victorious at University-level championship.

Nizamuddin used to visit our house in Bangalore and I still remember him reminiscing about their College days and having a hearty laugh.

This article brought back such happy memories for me, thanks to his granddaughter for writing such a beautiful article about a wonderful and unassuming person that Nizamuddin was. Thank you STAR for reviving our old memories.

Bus services between Karnataka & Kerala resumes

COVID negative report mandatory for passengers

Bengaluru, July 13 (UNI)-After remaining suspended for over two months owing to COVID-induced lockdown, the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) on Monday resumed its bus services to Kerala.

However, the passengers need to produce their COVID-19 negative report before boarding the bus, as per a State Government order.

In the absence of a negative report, the passenger should have proof of at least one dose of the vaccine. The driver and the conductor of the bus should mandatorily have a COVID negative report.

Border district officials have been asked to verify documents at the check-post before the bus enters the State, the order added.

Following a surge in COVID cases, the State Government had announced a lockdown leading to suspension of the bus services. Now, with the rapid decline in the cases, the transport services have been resumed, a Government official said.

City hotelier books air tickets for 8 staff from West Bengal

Trains from North East to Bengaluru, Mysuru fully booked till August

Seven employees pose for a photograph at Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose International Airport, Kolkata, just before their flight to Bengaluru. One more employee is not in the frame.

Mysuru, July 13 (BCT)- Hotels and restaurants in Mysuru are getting back on their feet offering full-fledged service to customers. As the lockdown was relaxed all of a sudden from July 5, some hotels found it difficult to function normally as they faced a serious shortage of manpower.

Employees from States such as West Bengal, Jharkhand and Odisha were unable to reach the city in the absence of trains and this was a major impediment. But not to disappoint first customers after months of lockdown, one star-category hotel in the city went out of the way to arrange flight tickets to eight employees from West Bengal and Odisha to Bengaluru and ferried them from there by road.

It was their flight of a lifetime and all the eight employees have touched down safely and are working in the hotel now. Excited after their boss told them that flight tickets would be booked for them to reach Mysuru within a couple of hours, the hotel staff dressed in their best clicked photos and selfies at Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose International Airport, Kolkata and also at Kempegowda International Airport in Bengaluru.

They usually take a train that reaches Mysuru in three days but this time, they flew here in just about three hours and all were hyper and happy, Bharath Devarajappa, Managing Director of the Hotel, told Star of Mysore.

"This was the only way to start the hotel in quick notice as most of the hotels in Mysuru are dependent on workers from the North and North East. Due to heavy rush, our staff, including chefs and assistants, could not book train tickets and all the trains running to Bengaluru and Mysuru were full and the waiting list went up to 200. Seats were only available in August and we could not afford to wait till then. So we booked the flight tickets and we bore the expenses," he explained.

"The Government did not even indicate that they were lifting the lockdown in phases and it was a short notice. It was impractical for us to start operations with new staff as our patrons are used to our quality and taste. We did not want to take any chances and turn away our regular customers nor compromise on quality; so we decided thus and even the staff was eager to get back to work," Bharath said.

After they reached Mysuru, RT-PCR tests were conducted on all of them and they tested negative. "I could start the business within a span of four days. RT-PCR tests had to be done as they did not get their jabs in West Bengal due to the political strife there. Now we will have to get them vaccinated here," he added.

Despite months of lockdown, the business has picked up well and the patrons are returning to dine-in, said Ajith Devarajappa, who also runs that hotel. "People are coming out and moreover a young crowd is coming to tables and are also going for takeaways," he revealed.

Also, many professionals from Bengaluru are working from home in Mysuru and they are fuelling good business at hotels. "Sadly, we have not got any support from the Government though some announcements have been made. The only way out for us is to maintain quality and attract more customers. We are really hoping that after July 19, hotels will be allowed to open beyond 9 pm," Bharath added.

Sarige Suraksha, ICU-on-wheels by KSRTC

Mangaluru, July 13 (UNI)- To treat patients from rural areas, Sarige Suraksha, 'ICU-on-wheels' service arrived at KSRTC depot in Mangaluru's BC Road.

Built in-house by the KSRTC at an estimated cost of Rs. 10 lakh, the ICU-on-wheels is the second such effort by KSRTC to pitch in during the pandemic.

The ICU-on-wheels had arrived for the first time to KSRTC Puttur division comprising Dakshina Kannada and Kodagu. MLA Rajesh Naik had placed a demand with Transport Minister Laxman Savadi to sanction ICU-on-wheels for Bantwal.

The five-bedded bus-cum-ambulance is equipped with a ventilator, oxygen system for each bed, patient monitor (BP, Oxygen Amount, ECG, Temperature) system, emergency medicine system along with a generator to power the equipment. The bus has a siren facility similar to that of an ambulance. It also has a notice board.

Will illegal mining come to an end in Mandya district?

By M.K. Mohanraj

Mandya, July 13- Even as Mandya becomes a hotbed of mining politics with no holds barred spats between Independent Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish, wife of late actor Ambarish and JD(S) leader and former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy over the past several days, the people of Mandya are wondering whether MP Sumalatha, who has promised to stop illegal mining activities that has been going on for years, will keep up her promise.

Though Mandya district has hundreds of stone quarrying, crushing and mining units, hardly over a hundred of them are said to be legal, while the rest are said to be illegal with no Governmental sanction. Quarrying and mining is rampant in western part of Mandya district comprising Srirangapatna, Pandavapura, K.R. Pet and Nagamangala taluks.

But illegal quarrying is all the more rampant in Srirangapatna and Pandavapura taluks, which fact is reportedly acknowledged by officials from the Mines and Geology Department.

MP Sumalatha visits quarrying sites

With reports of illegal quarrying going on unabated, MP Sumalatha too visited some of the quarrying sites in the vicinity of KRS Dam to ascertain facts, which has led to the political slugfest between the MP and JD(S) Legislators and leaders.

Raids on illegal quarrying units

Though officials from the Mines and Geology and Police Departments often raid illegal quarrying units, particularly those in the vicinity of KRS Dam, quarry operators seem to be little caring for the raids.

Even if officials seal the premises of illegal quarrying or mining sites and also seize equipment and vehicles used for mining, the operators, who keep quiet for some time, resume their activities later.

Though the Police and other authorities carry out regular beats during day time to keep a watch on illegal quarrying activities, the owners operate most of the times during nights, while keeping silent during the day.

The efforts of the authorities and Police to stop illegal mining in Srirangapatna, Nagamangala and Pandavapura taluks have met with little success, as quarry operators allegedly have a strong backing of politicians.

After having failed in all their efforts to end illegal quarrying, some of the officials have often chosen to stay aloof from the operations.

Amidst all this, a concerning incident where miscreants tried to run over a Police official during a raid on an illegal quarry unit in Nagamangala taluk a couple of years ago has taken place.

Permission with restrictions

There is permission to carry out legal quarrying and mining in the district with certain restrictions in place. Accordingly, quarrying should not be carried out in the vicinity of educational institutions, houses, places of worship, along rivers and major water bodies etc. But illegal stone quarrying especially in Ragimuddanahalli, Kodishettypura, Hangarahalli and Channanakere in Srirangapatna taluk and Bebi Betta in Pandavapura taluk is reportedly going on unabated, causing cracks in houses located close to the quarrying sites.

Apart from damage to houses and other structures in the vicinity, the quarrying has polluted water bodies. Also, illegal quarrying has seen ground water levels drop to new lows in the absence of seasonal rains. The quarrying has destroyed a number of stony hills and hill ranges in taluks of the district too. This apart, frequent sounds of blasting that emerge from quarrying units has often been a cause of scare for children studying in nearby schools.

KRS Dam safety

Although there is no immediate threat to the safety and stability of KRS Dam in Srirangapatna taluk as of now, the Dam remains susceptible to cracks in the long run if wanton quarrying continues unabated.

The residents of villages which are affected by quarrying units have been demanding an end to illegal quarrying for long.

Following persistent demands, a team from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre visited the KRS Dam site and also the areas around the Dam, following which it submitted a report that illegal quarrying in the vicinity poses a threat to the stability of the Dam.

Subsequent to the report, mining was stopped. But after a few days, quarrying and crusher units again started operating, much to the dismay of villagers.

'Ban would affect livelihood of daily wagers'

Meanwhile, mining and quarry owners argue that complete stopping of operations will hurt thousands of daily wagers, who eke out a livelihood by working in these units. But the fact is that manual labour has been reduced by over a half as quarry owners are using explosives to blast rocks instead of involving manual labour.

Also, most of the labourers working in these units are not locals, but are from Northern States such as Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Jharkhand.

This apart, most of the mining activities are being done with the help of tractors, tippers, lorries, earth-moving machines and other quarry machineries.

Sounds of blasting affect children, elderly

There were not much problems when stones were cut involving manual labour with permitted gelatin sticks that used to take place earlier. But with advancements in mining, quarry owners have resorted to rig bore blasting for making jelly, size and crusher stones, M-Sand etc.

The techniques and methods used in rig bore blasting has caused problems, according to villagers, who alleged that deep rig bore blasting running up to 50 ft underground has caused cracks and other damages to houses and other structures.

But following numerous complaints about children, women and the aged getting scared over the sounds of blasting, quarry owners resorted to megger-enabled blasting. Though quarry owners claim that they have stopped rig bore blasting and adopted the much safer megger-enabled blasting, there are complaints that deep rig bore blasting was taking place even now.

Payment of Royalty

In another loss to the Government, there are rampant complaints that most of the quarry owners, who have encroached upon lands adjacent to their units, have been cheating the Government on payment of Royalty.

The locals have urged the Mines and Geology Department authorities to correctly assess the extent of mining of each quarrying unit and collect the right amount of Royalty from them and also put a brake on illegal mining activities.

Will MP keep up her promise?

Meanwhile, all eyes are on Mandya MP Sumalatha, who has promised to end all illegal quarrying in the district once and for all. The quarrying and mining lobby is said to have extensive political support and the villagers are wondering will Sumalatha succeed by overcoming all lobbies and political clout that the mining mafia has.

Although the MP has started with a promising note focussing on the safety and stability of KRS Dam and also saving the rocky hills from getting extinct, only time can tell to what extent the MP will succeed in her efforts and struggle to put an end to the quarrying mafia that has been ruling the district for long.

Sumalatha Ambarish meets Mines and Geology Minister

Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish submitting documents in support of her claims on illegal quarrying in the district to Mines Minister Murugesh Nirani in Bengaluru yesterday.

Bengaluru, July 13- In an interesting development amidst the statement of Mines and Geology Minister Murugesh Nirani that he will be visiting Mandya soon to assess the extent of alleged illegal mining, Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish met the Minister in Bengaluru yesterday and held talks on the alleged illegal mining and quarrying activities in Mandya district.

During the meeting, Sumalatha is said to have given some documents to the Minister in support of her claims on illegal quarrying in the district.

Speaking to press persons after the meeting, Sumalatha said that she discussed several issues with the Minister and also requested him to personally inspect illegal mining areas in the district. Arguing that illegal mining has been a bane for people living in villages around quarrying units, she said that the quarry owners have been cheating the Government on Royalty too and as such, the Government should take measures for collecting Royalty from defaulters and the money so collected can be used locally for development of Mandya district.

She has invited Nirani for carrying out an inspection of Bebi Betta, she said and added that she will be holding a crucial meeting with all concerned officials on the safety and stability of KRS Dam on July 14 at Mandya.

Mandya MP to visit KRS and Bebi Betta tomorrow

Mandya, July 13- Amid a talk war between political leaders over the safety and security of KRS Dam and illegal quarrying in Mandya district, MP Sumalatha Ambarish, who is on a two-day tour of the district today and tomorrow, will visit KRS Dam in Srirangapatna taluk at 12.30 pm tomorrow (July 14).

Later, she will visit illegal mining and stone quarrying areas around Bebi Betta of Pandavapura taluk at 2.30 pm, according to the MP's Personal Assistant.

Nirani to visit mining areas around KRS dam this week

Bengaluru, July 13 (KMS&DM)- With complaints of illegal mining in the vicinity of KRS Dam galore, Minister for Mines and Geology Murugesh Nirani will be visiting mining and quarrying areas in Mandya district this week.

Speaking to press persons at his residence here yesterday, Nirani said that he will take the Mandya MP, Legislators, media persons and other people representatives along with him for the inspection.

Contending that disciplinary action will be initiated against any official who is found guilty of lapses or irregularities during the inspection, Nirani said that errant officials will not be let scot free for any reason.

Noting that he had visited several mining and quarrying areas in the district on Feb. 22 along with the MP, other people representatives and officials, he asserted that no illegal mining activity in the vicinity of KRS dam for the past three months, has come to his notice. However, the Government will certainly take action if any illegal mining is found, he said.

Asserting that the Department has stopped a total of 38 mining and quarrying units in Mandya district, Nirani said that it has been decided to carrying out blasting using explosives around KRS Dam on an experimental basis by Pune-based Energy and Water Research Institute of the Union Government. Such a blasting will give vital inputs to the Government on the quantity of explosives that can be used for quarrying, he asserted.

Stating that Mandya MP Sumalatha has expressed concern over illegal mining in Mandya district, Nirani reiterated that the Government will not allow illegal mining for any reason.

District Minister 'blasts' officers for turning 'blind eye' towards illegal mining

Mandya, July 13 (SSV)- Mandya District Minister K.C. Narayanagowda has slammed officers of Mines and Geology Department for turning a 'blind eye' towards blasting in mines in areas surrounding KRS Dam and accused them of hand-in-glove with persons running illegal stone quarries.

"First of all you don't visit the mining areas. You are totally ignorant about the quantity of stone quarried in the mines. Rampant illegal stone quarrying has been going on with the blessings of a few officers. People in the surrounding areas of the Dam will come to know about the blasting in mines but surprisingly it is not heard by officers. This is the classic case of fence eating the crop," the Minister remarked during a meeting on the mining in the district at the DC's office here yesterday.

He directed officers to visit the mining areas and collect the Royalty from the mine owners. "There were over 95 stone quarries in Mandya. Though the number of quarries was less in other districts, they were collecting crores of rupees as Royalty while the Royalty collected was very negligible here. This loophole must be set right immediately," he said.

"Of late, the controversy surrounding KRS Dam has become talk of the town. There had been a hue and cry about the damage to the Dam due to blasting in the nearby stone quarries. In the wake of this, it was better to stop the quarrying in the interest of safety of the Dam. There were examples of suspension of stone quarrying in the vicinity of Dams across the country and such a step needs to be taken in Mandya too," he said and added "We can consider allotting an alternative place for those who have license to undertake quarrying at Bebi Betta. Once that is done, a plan may be worked to develop Bebi Betta as a tourist spot."

Start Helpline

Narayanagowda suggested to the District Administration to start a Helpline to check illegal mining in the district.

Officers concerned must be very strict and take help of the general public to check this. In fact, people will first come to know if the blasting was done illegally in any part of the district and they can share information if the Helpline was opened.

Besides, there was a need for constituting a Task Force to check illegal mining which consists of officers from Department of Mines and Geology, Police, RTO, Revenue, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj and Forest.

A survey must be done immediately and report must be submitted. Check-posts must be opened at all places and give a list of officers who work there. The State Government was losing crores of rupees due to non-collection of Royalty from the mining companies regularly.

CCTVs must be installed at the check points and the GPS must be fixed for trucks carrying the stones from the district mines. Officers must keep a watch on the trucks, he added.

DC S. Aswathi, SP Dr. Ashwini, ZP CEO Divya Prabhu, Mines and Geology Officer Padmaja and other district level officers were present.

'Quarrying in vicinity of KRS Dam to be completely stopped'

Mandya, July 13 (MR&DM)- Mandya District in-Charge Minister K.C. Narayanagowda said that the Government has decided to ban all types of mining and quarrying, both legal and illegal, in 10-12 km radius of KRS Reservoir taking into account the safety and stability of the Dam.

Speaking to press persons after holding a meeting at the DC's office here yesterday, Narayanagowda said that henceforth there will be no legal or illegal quarrying in the vicinity of the Dam.

Pointing out that the decision to ban quarrying has been taken after consulting all the concerned authorities, the Minister said that all types of quarrying in Bebi Betta of Pandavapura taluk too will be banned and the Chief Minister will be approached for issuing an order in this regard.

Maintaining that the KRS Dam is safe and any confusions that Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish may have in this regard will be cleared along with document proof.

Dispelling the fears of farmers and all others who have expressed doubts about the safety of the Dam, he said that mining will be banned taking into account the Dam's safety in future.

Asserting that curbing of illegal mining is among the top priorities of the Government, he said that the mining check-posts have been increased from 5 to 8 as a first step in this regard. The other measures included GPS installation, CCTV Cameras installation and use of drones etc., he added.

Noting that there are many legal quarrying units around KRS Dam and Bebi Betta, he said that after the enforcement of ban, these units will be allotted alternative places for continuing their activities. Clarifying that there will be no fresh license fee for mining at allotted alternative places, Narayanagowda defended the Government's decision saying that such a ban has been imposed around Gujarat's Narmada Dam too.

The Minister further said that Melukote MLA C.S. Puttaraju too has welcomed the ban decision and so also most of the political leaders of the region, for which he is thankful to them.

The Government will take measures to get a stay order if quarry owners succeed in getting permission from the Court to continue mining in the vicinity of KRS Dam, he said.

Windflower Resorts and Spa

Tharun Giri, Managing Director, The Windflower Resorts and Spa, said that weekend tourism is fairly strong after the July 5 unlock while weekday tourism is still a little weak. "This is the Ashada month and not many events like marriages are happening. People travelling for those events and using hotels for their stay are not there as of now. Also, since COVID is still prevalent, we are using only 50 percent of the inventory for both the safety of guests and our staff," he explained.

Compared to the first wave where the industry took off after over three to four months of low lying, the recovery after the second wave is promising. "If you compare 2019 July to July 2021, there is definitely an uptick in the weekend bookings. But that said I would say that the recovery process in the hospitality industry could be judged only after 21 days of assessment when we know exactly if people are travelling. Usually it takes three weeks or a month to make a judgement. Anything before that might be a little pre-emptive to say if it is a good success or not, Tharun Giri said.

Silent Shores Resort and Spa

B.N. Kushalappa, Sales and Marketing Head of Silent Shores Resort and Spa, said that they opened a week back and the business is slowly picking up but weekends were packed. "The wedding crowd has been restricted to 100 and once the restrictions are lifted, I am sure we will see brighter days in a phased manner," he said.

"In the first wave the hospitality sector was shut from March to July and after it opened in August, it picked up within a month or so. Now after the second wave, it has picked up suddenly. Now people have started living with the virus by being more cautious and they know how Coronavirus behaves and last year, the disease was unknown," he said.

On the employee strength front, he said, "When the unlock was declared, it became difficult for us to get back our old staff as they had left for their homes in North India and certain staff had switched over to farming. They are returning now. But we were prepared at the same time to welcome the guests also by some balancing efforts."

The Quorum Mysore

Sri Ram, General Manager of The Quorum Mysore, said that the hospitality sector was limping back to normalcy after months of no-service. "It will take at least another three months for it to fully bounce back but on a positive note, it is showing signs of recovery and that's encouraging. As of now tourists are bare minimum as Kodagu too opened just two days back," he said.

Quorum gets 90 percent of corporate guests and the 10 percent is tourists and in the coming days, the tourist flow might pick up. "Before COVID, corporates were maximum 15 percent and 75 percent occupancy was from tourists and leisure travellers. This will change after a month where tourist occupancy will be over 30 percent and the corporate guest volume will come down to over 70 percent," he explained.

Widespread vaccination gives enough confidence to the people and the hotel industry too will be able to take more people in, heralding the full revival of the industry, Sri Ram added.

Open air gyms have become a new trend in the city and this has attracted many young children. People are seen thronging public parks in order to gain physical fitness free of cost. Along with daily fitness, now people can enjoy additional fitness through workouts. While many parks already have the gym facility, more such open air gyms are ready to come up in other public parks across the city. This new trend will sure turn every Mysurean a fitness freak.

NEET exam postponed to Sept. 12

New Delhi, July 13 (AK)- All India Pre Medical Test, the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET), exam has been postponed to Sept. 12.

Central Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan took to twitter to announce it officially.

Earlier, NEET exam was scheduled on Aug. 1 but now in order to follow the COVID protocols, it has been postponed to September.

From today (July 13) 5 pm onwards the application process will begin for the candidates through National Testing Agency (NTA) website.

Dharmendra Pradhan tweeted, "In order to ensure social distancing norms, number of cities where examination will be conducted has been increased from 155 to 198. The number of examination centres will also be increased from the 3,862 centres used in 2020. To ensure adherence to COVID-19 protocols, face mask will be provided to all candidates at the centre. Staggered time slots during entry and exit, contactless registration, proper sanitisation, seating with social distancing etc., will also be ensured."

Taluk Office crowded for pensions

Applicants in large numbers seen submitting pension documents at the Taluk Office on Friday (July 9).

Conversing with the applicants, the applications are checked, verified along with the attached documents and ID proofs. If the documents are not in order, the applicants are asked to re-attach them and then come here for re-submission.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Social Security Pension Scheme (Samajika Bhadratha Yojana) Shirastedar Ningappa said that following lockdown, submission of applications was zero and after the curbs were lifted from July 5, nearly 100 people are submitting new applications while others are re-submitting their updated applications.

Prior to lockdown, over 30 to 40 people used to submit applications and post lockdown, rush is seen every day. "This is a normal routine process in the office here. The rush is, however, subsiding," he added.

Speedy disbursal of benefits

Applications are submitted after linking Aadhaar numbers with bank accounts and updating their bank pass books. These documents are necessary for speedy disbursal of benefits, which will be credited to the beneficiaries' bank account directly, he said.

Sometimes, beneficiaries fail to link their Aadhaar to bank accounts and would not have submitted their Life Certificates. "If this is the case, the pensions would be suspended. It is important for beneficiaries to submit applications along with copies of pension order, pension slips distributed by postmen, Aadhaar, bank account passbook and post-office passbook," he added.

Once the applications are received, officials will approve such pensions, link the beneficiary's bank account to Treasury-2 and the staff will update the details to the official portal so that the money is transferred to the beneficiary bank accounts on seniority basis every month, Ningappa said.

Treasury-1 and 2

There are one lakh pension beneficiaries in Mysuru City and Taluk and Treasury-1 Office was handling such schemes earlier and used to send money through postal money orders. Now, the process has gone online and Treasury-2 is handling such schemes, he added.

Verification of documents are also made with Revenue Officers and Panchayat Development Officers visiting the addresses mentioned in the application as sometimes beneficiaries would have moved to a different address. Ningappa said that it would take a day or two to upload the applications and documents onto the Government portal.

The Office is headed by Grade-2 Tahsildar K.R. Rathnambika along with Shirastedar Ningappa and has three computer operators outsourced from a private firm to upload the applications and documents onto the portal.

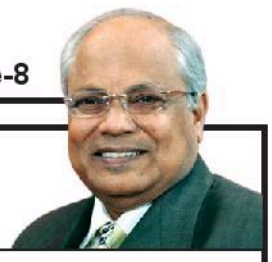
TENNIS TALK



By V.N. Prasad

Heartiest Congratulations on Lifting Wimbledon 2021 Titles

Invincible Djokovic, Unrelenting Barty and budding Junior Star Samir Banerjee

London was agog with sporting activities last week-end. Italy won the European Championship for the 1st time since 1968 in a 3-2 shoot-out win at Wembley. 17-year-old 'Indian American' lifted the 2021 Wimbledon Juniors Trophy. Cool and composed Barty lifted her 1st Wimbledon Title. Invincible Djokovic lifted his 6th Wimbledon and 20th Grand-Slam Title; his 3rd successive at the Wimbledon; well on way to 'Golden Slam' at the Flushing Meadows, New York, later in August/September.

In relaxed COVID protocols, 15,000 plus watched the tennis matches live. Millions of TV viewers across the globe enjoyed a great fortnight of exhilarating Tennis and Football. Reportedly, all the Pubs in Italy and England were jam-packed when the football finals was on. That is Magic of Sports. Isn't it a great feeling.

All was not 'Hunky Dory' this time at the Wimbledon. Champions and the budding ones made over from 'Clay Courts' of the French Open to 'Grass Courts' barely in a gap of a fortnight. London was experiencing mild showers. Courts were lush green. But, for the contestants they were nightmarish; especially the centre court. Roof cover was rolled over off and on. Trapped moisture took time to evaporate. Grass blades were shiny and beautiful — but slippery. Bounce off the grass was unpredictable at times. Players slid and toppled frequently.

It all started with Mannarino on Day 2. Federer hung on providentially committing endless unforced errors while Mannarino was progressing impressively with 7-6 and 6-3. He slid and toppled, straining thigh muscles. Tragically he had to retire in the 4th Set. On the same Day-2, Serena sustained muscular strain in the 34th minute against Sasnovich and had to retire. Later Raducanu followed suit. Even stalwarts like Federer and Djoko slid many times. In a Sporting gesture, however, both admitted over the mike that "It was expected to be slippery at the beginning — but would settle after a few days." But, the situation continued until the last day.

In lighter vein and good humour I wondered — "Was it Wimbledon or Tumbledon this season??"

Back to the games, in the Juniors Section, it was redeeming to see the 17-year-old unseeded Indian American Samir Banerjee beating fellow American Victor Lilov (17) in straight sets — 7-5, 6-3 in the finals. We all wish Samir a great career ahead.

Ladies lighted up Wimbledon with tremendous skill and power plays. Stalwarts Barty, Kerber, Pliskova, Sabalenka and youngsters Boulter, Gauff, Jabeur played highly competitive tennis. Two matches that interested me most were Boulter Vs Sabalenka (6-4, 3-6, 3-6) and Sabalenka Vs Jabeur (6-4, 6-3). Both were power-packed encounters. Surprisingly, 'Laid Back' Pliskova edged out gutsy and gusty Sabalenka in the Semis (5-7, 6-4, 6-4). In the other, both Kerber (33) and Barty (25) played composed and tactful games — but Barty won crucial points to win the 6-3, 7-6 Semis.

In the Finals, Pliskova looked like one on a 'Picnic'. Her body language and approach looked tentative/ casual at such a huge moment. She suddenly sprung back to take the 2nd set in a 'Tie Break' 7-4; but lost momentum in the 3rd set in a 6-3, 6-7, 6-3. Thank you Ladies for lovely entertainment over the fortnight.

In the men's section we saw several untoward happenings. Exit of Mannarino on retirement. Tsitsipas exiting on Day 1. Medvedev's exit on Day 2 etc. But, Federer approaching 40 was extremely lucky to go past Gasquet and Norrie especially. Eventually, 14th seeded young Hurkacz; 24 years of age; from Poland defeated him in the Quarters; straight sets; 6-3, 7-6, 6-0; the young lad who admitted on mike having grown emulating Federer. He was ecstatic. In the Semis, he was overpowered by the Italian Berrettini 6-3, 6-0, 6-7, 6-4.

The other Semis, young Canadian Shapovalov, 22 years old, took the wind out of the stalwart Djokovic. Card reading 7-6, 7-5, 7-5 needs to be read in context of 19 points the Canadian won. But for his impetuousness at times, he would have shocked Djoko. This belligerent youngster surely will reach great heights in times to come.

The 34-year-old Novak Djokovic is more of a Mathematician/ Doctor/ Scientist. In the first set, he uses his Stethoscope to study opponent's lungs and pulse. Studies Pathology of the court. Doesn't waste more than 60% of his tactics and power in the 1st set. He puts his foot on the accelerator from 2nd set onwards. From thereon, "He Floats Like a Butterfly and Stings Like a Bee". That is "Novak, the Serb Superman" for the world. It takes courage and conviction to say over the mike "I believe that I am the Best currently".

In the finals, the Italian Betterrinni seemed nervous. In the first two sets, he had chopped into the net 21 times; all unforced errors. His drops were weak. It is not that Djoko had a free run. He struggled too on suspect court conditions — conceding the 1st set and 'Steam Rolling' the Italian in the next three to register 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. If he does the Golden Slam, he will be first after Rod Laver; who did it in 1969. Best to him and all the budding Champions at the Flushing Meadows▪

Now, double tentacle solar fencing to keep wild jumbos at bay

Hanagod, July 13 (Hanagod Mahesh &KS)- After trenches, railway line barricades, hanging solar fence and other methods failed to keep elephants and other wild animals from entering human habitat and destroying crops and properties, double tentacle solar fence (solar-powered energiser connected to the fence) is being installed at village borders of Nagarahole National Park to keep wild animals at bay.

Nagarahole Reserve Forest is spread over 843 square kilometres and villages bordering the reserve forest are raided by wild animals such as leopards, tigers and elephants, which enter the villages in search of food and water. In the process, the wild animals sometimes kill human beings and livestock and elephants not only destroy crops but also destroy properties causing huge loss to villagers. This also used to give rise to man-animal conflicts.

Though elephant trenches was successful in keeping wild elephants at bay initially, sub-standard works taken up while digging trenches and also elephants filling up the trenches with mud and then crossing over the other side had become a headache to the Forest Department. Hence, along with Railway line barricades, installation of solar fences too was taken up and wild elephants crossing over to the other side at these places has been controlled, say Forest Department officials. In a bid to control wild elephants from entering human habitat in forest borders, the Union Government came forward for erecting Railway barricades seven years ago. Now, the Government has decided to install 102 km long solar fences at Nagarahole Reserve Forest out of which installation of solar fences has been completed for 74 kms.

Solar fences to Railway barricades have been installed in Metikuppe, Veeranahosahalli and Antharasanthe Ranges in Nagarahole Reserve Forest. In the same way, installations has been completed at Hunsur, Kallahalli, Nagarahole and Anechowkur range limits.

TENTACLES SOLAR FENCE

In a first at Uttarakhand, 'Tentacle Solar Fencing' has been installed in Gaindakhali village in Haldwani forest division in the vicinity of Nandhaur Wildlife Sanctuary to mainly prevent human-animal conflicts.

This fencing is different from the regular solar fencing. It is designed like barbed wires on 4-5 feet iron poles supported by concrete on the floor, tentacle solar fencing is hanged from 15-feet pole at least two to 3-feet above the ground. The fence electrified by solar panels renders a 12-volt non-lethal low intensity shock to animals trying to venture or cross into human populace.

Officials of Uttarakhand Forest Department had said that the tentacle fencing cuts the cost to half and is 100 percent effective and damage-proof in comparison to conventional fencing. We started working to find a way for the co-existence of humans with wild animals and human beings share the planet with wild animals, they added.

At the three forest ranges in Nagarahole, solar fences are installed to Railway barricades, mainly to prevent elephants raiding villages in forest borders.

1,011 CROP LOSS CASES REGISTERED IN 2020-21

Following wild animals raiding agricultural lands of villagers in Nagarahole Reserve Forest limits and destroying standing crops, a total of 1,011 crop loss cases have been registered in the year 2020-21 and a total sum of Rs. 49 lakh compensation has been disbursed. Out of the total 1,011 cases, 57 cases have been registered pertaining to attack of domestic animals while two cases of human deaths and 31 property damage cases have been registered.

In the year 2021-22, 594 cases have been registered till date and Rs. 9.50 lakh compensation has been provided for 93 cases and a total amount of Rs. 34 lakh compensation is yet to be provided for the remaining 501 cases.

DROP IN MAN-WILD ANIMAL CONFLICTS

In recent years, man-wild animal conflicts have drastically come down in Nagarahole National Park limits. If the installation of Railway line barricades is completed fully, it would be very beneficial to farmers in forest borders.

Along with solar fencing, if there are other effective technologies, the same would be implemented to prevent wild animals from entering human habitat, Forest officials said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Fantast

Pronunciation: fan-tast.
Meaning: A visionary or dreamer.
Origin: Fantast, "a visionary or dreamer," comes via German Fantast, Phantast (with the same meaning), via Medieval Latin phantasta, from Greek phantastḗs "an ostentatious person, boaster" (that is, someone who talks about their exaggerated fantasies). Phantastḗs ultimately derives from the verb phantázein "to make visible, present to the eye or mind" and phantázesthai "to become visible, appear." Fantast entered English in the second half of the 16th century.
Example: It would be difficult to describe Browne adequately; exuberant in conception and conceit, dignified, hyper-latinistic, a quiet and sublime enthusiast; yet a fantast, a humourist, a brain with a twist ....— Samuel Taylor Coleridge, "Style," from "Fragments And Notes, Mainly From The Lectures Of 1818," in Miscellanies, Aesthetic and Literary, 1885.

THE ODD WORD

Facinorous

Atrociously wicked.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

As blind as a bat

Meaning: This phrase refers to someone who is unwilling to recognise bad things, or someone who is completely blind.
You can use the phrase 'As Blind as a Bat' to describe someone who refuses to notice an obvious thing.
Origin: Though some species have poor eyesight, particularly during daylight hours, bats aren't truly blind. However, this wasn't common knowledge in the days of the origin of the phrase 'as blind as a bat.' The term is attributed to a similar one by the famous Aristotle; he wrote: "For as the eyes of bats are to the blaze of day, so is the reason in our soul to the things which are by nature most evident of all."
Example: Will is so in love, he is as blind as a bat when it comes to Kate's rude behaviour."

Forgery case

Actor Darshan suspects 'unseen hands'

With many twists and turns, the plot is no less than a potboiler

Mysuru, July 13 (PM&BCT)- A day after it came to light that a case has been booked at Hebbal Police Station for attempt to cheat by obtaining a Rs. 25 crore loan fraudulently by forging the property documents of Sandalwood actor 'Challenging Star' Darshan, the actor clarified to the media that his friends were not involved in the racket.

"Different media is portraying my friends as villains. They are not involved in the case in any way and I suspect certain 'unseen hands' behind this and the truth will come out in the Police investigation," he told reporters addressing a press conference at a private hotel here yesterday.

The complaint was filed on July 3 by Harsha Melanta, who is Darshan's friend and who runs 'Mysore Union Club' at Hebbal, against three persons including Aruna Kumari, a Bengaluru-based woman who claimed to be a Bank Manager, Madhukeshava and Nandeesh. The trio allegedly blackmailed Harsha using forged documents in connection with the attempt to fraudulently obtain a bank loan through the actor's surety.

Producer of Darshan-starrer 'Robert' Umapathi Srinivas also lodged a complaint of cheating at Jayanagar Police Station in Bengaluru. Darshan said the accused, who claimed to represent a bank in Bengaluru, had visited his farmhouse on the outskirts of Mysuru on the pretext of an inspection of the property for the hefty bank loan.

Woman in the role

"The accused claimed that the inspection was for the bank loan sought by my friends including Harsha. Various reports are being published by the media on the alleged role played by my friends and I am here to clarify that they are not involved. Also, what documents Aruna Kumari had with her were just my Aadhaar Card number, date of birth and the information about my property where it was mentioned 'Darshan Thoogudeepa, Agriculturist'. Apart from these, there were no documents with the woman," he clarified.

Sandalwood actor Darshan addressing a press conference at a private hotel yesterday.

"Unseen hands are behind this and Aruna Kumari could not have mustered the courage to attempt such a fraud without the backing of the 'unseen hands'. I clarify here that I do not suspect producer Umapathi. I have spoken to him to reveal if he is even victimised by the same 'unseen hands'. He has asked me for two days to come out with details," Darshan said.

Chat history released

Darshan released an 'audio clip' of the accused woman conversing with him and also a 'WhatsApp chat' between her and producer Umapathi Srinivas. "Though the Police are investigating, I gathered information. Umapathi has to clarify on all this," he said. "Aruna Kumari first said that she did the con job at the behest of one Mallesh. Next she blamed Umapathi," Darshan added.

The woman accused in the case is the estranged wife of Kumar, an employee of Harsha Melanta's hotel. Kumar, who was present at the press conference venue, claimed that he and his wife separated eight years ago and he was not aware of her involvement in the case.

Darshan's friends Hotelier Harsha Melanta, Zilla Panchayat Member Rakesh Papanna, Dheeraj Prasad, Nagu and bank employee Rakesh Sharma were present at the press meet.

Attempt to foment enmity

Meanwhile, producer Umapathi told reporters in Bengaluru that only a detailed Police probe will bring out the truth. "I have not attempted to cheat anyone and there is no necessity for me to depend on anyone's money for a living. I am a businessman and a quarry owner and I pay legal tax and royalty to the Government. Also I am a producer of big-budget movies. I have a good relationship with Darshan," he said.

On the purported WhatsApp chat between Aruna Kumari and him released by Darshan to the media, he said, "I gave the chat history to Darshan and nothing is established in the chat. I am not involved in any way and let the Police unearth the truth. Also, attempts are being made to foment enmity between me and Darshan," he added.

Imposter of Mysore Royal family arrested

Seventh standard dropout and a polyglot, he cheated women on matrimonial sites

Bengaluru/Mysuru, July 13 (AK)- Finding a life partner is not easy and a convenient way to do that these days is through hundreds of matrimonial sites. But matrimonial sites are not completely safe and unless the actual background and credentials of prospective brides and grooms are checked and verified, there are more chances of people being conned.

Here is one such case where a conman cheated many women by claiming to be a member of Mysore royal family. He even changed his name for it to resemble the royal descent. In all, he has cheated women of more than Rs. 40 lakh and is now cooling his heels at Parappana Agrahara Central Jail in Bengaluru.

The accused has been identified as 33-year-old K. Siddarth, a native of Periyapatna Taluk in Mysuru District and he has been arrested by Whitefield Police. A seventh-standard dropout, Siddarth, calling himself as 'Siddarth Urs' to show off the royal lineage, claimed to be an employee of Microsoft in the US.

He would speak fluently in American English, Mandarin (Chinese) Hindi, Tamil and Spanish to the women seeking alliances through matrimonial websites. He was a polyglot and used his skills in language to approach the women. He would contact the women by introducing himself as Siddarth Urs. After winning their confidence, he would extract money from the women under some pretext or the other.

Siddarth cheated over three girls by promising marriage and extorted Rs. 40 lakh from them. He learnt English and Spanish and the way to pronounce words from tourists who visit the Golden Temple in the Tibetan settlement at Bylakuppe.

K. Siddarth

Siddarth used many fake names like Siddarth Urs, Sandy, Vinay and befriended women through matrimonial sites. Later he used to ask for money from them by giving an excuse of a medical emergency. Believing in his words, women would easily transfer money to Siddarth's account, Whitefield ACP Devaraj told reporters yesterday.

Not only this, Siddarth used to send morphed photos of him with the royal family to his targets and would make them believe that it is his childhood photos. His lies were nailed by a 30-year-old woman who approached the Police.

During investigation, the Police found that he had a bank account in the Periyapatna branch to which the women transferred and finally, the conman was traced and apprehended. Two high-end iPhones, international SIM cards, bank pass books and six debit cards were seized from him.

Training lessons online

While confessing his crime to the Police, Siddarth said he was influenced by many videos watched online where he saw and studied how Nigerians cheated people from different countries and through various modus operandi.

He told the Police that he wanted to make quick money and lead a lavish life and that is why he chose to use the names of the Mysore royal family. Also, Siddarth was involved in vices like gambling and needed lakhs of rupees.

Man goes missing

The missing man is Mahadev who was working as a cook at a hotel in Nazarbad here.

Those having any information about the missing person may contact Nazarbad Police Station on Ph: 0821-2418308 or call Police Control Room on Ph: 0821-2418339, according to a release.

Woman who had decamped with Rs. 80 lakh chit fund, gold arrested

Mysuru, July 13 (MK&KS)- A woman at Sathagalli, who was running a chit fund business and allegedly duped over 200 people to the tune of Rs. 80 lakh and 200 grams of gold pledged by the investors, has been arrested by Udayagiri Police. The woman had reportedly gone on a tour and the Police have arrested her at Belur in Hassan district.

The con-woman is 58-year-old Hemalatha, who was residing at a house behind Saibaba Temple in Sathagalli for the last five years. She used to run cheeti and would request women to invest in the monthly investment business. And trusting her as she was a long-time resident of the area, many women invested money. Some have pooled in lakhs of rupees, as high returns were promised. Many women have even pledged gold ornaments without the knowledge of their husbands.

Following a complaint filed by a resident of Sathagalli, who was cheated by Hemalatha, Udayagiri Police, who registered a case, conducted investigation and based on the clue that Hemalatha was on tour, managed to trace her at Belur and arrested her. Police said that the accused, after collecting money from investors, used to go on foreign tours and also tourist destinations in the country. She was produced before a Court, which remanded her to judicial custody.
